B Listen In 교과서 p. 38

1

- B I'm worried about my dog.
 G Why? What's the matter?
 B He just sleeps all day. I don't know what to do.
 G Why don't you take him to a vet?
 B OK, I think I'll do that.

2

- G I'm worried about my math grades.
 B Why? Is math hard for you?
 G Not usually, but lately my grades haven't been that great.
 B Well, all you can do is try your best.
 G I know, but I'm scared of tomorrow's test.
 B Don't worry. I'm sure everything will be all right.

3

- B What's the matter, Lucy?
 G I'm worried about my friend, Paul. He seems unhappy these days.
 B Do you know why?
 G No, he hasn't told me. What should I do?
 B If I were you, I'd wait until he comes and talks to you.
 G OK, I'll do that. Thanks for the advice.

C Speak Out 교과서 p. 39

- B What's the matter? You look so gloomy.
 G I'm worried about my friend, Olivia.
 B Why? What's going on?
 G Well, I think she's unhappy. She's been as quiet as a mouse lately.
 B Has she told you how come?
 G No. She's usually so social, but lately she hasn't even texted me.
 B Then I think you should call her and ask her why.
 G Yeah, that's probably the best thing to do.

B Listen In 교과서 p. 40

1- (1) B Hi, Sue. How are you doing?

G I'm doing great. I feel relaxed and happy.

B Is there any special reason?

G No, not really. I'm just having a good day.

1- (2) G What's wrong, Mike? You look upset.

B I am. I just got some bad news.

G Really? About what?

B About a test. I didn't do well on it. I'm so disappointed.

1- (3) B You're so quiet today. Is something wrong?

G Honestly, yes. I'm worried.

B Can you tell me why?

G It's because my cousin is sick. I found out this morning.

2 B Hi, Helen. You look upset. Is something wrong?

G Yeah, I'm feeling sad. I just got some bad news.

B Oh, really? What happened?

G My grandmother is sick. She doesn't feel well.

B Oh, that's too bad. Is it something serious?

G I don't think so, but it makes me sad anyway. I love her so much.

B Well, don't worry. I'm sure she'll feel better soon!

G Yes, but isn't there something I can do?

B Of course. You could call or text her. That'll cheer her up.

G That sounds good. I'll call her. I think I'll do it right away.

B Yeah, you should. Your grandma will be happy to hear from you.

C Speak Out 교과서 p. 41

1 G Hi, Jerry. How are you today?

B I'm feeling terrific! I just got some good news.

G Oh, really? What's it about?

B I was accepted into a volunteer program.

G That's nice.

B What about you? You don't seem very happy.

G To be honest, I'm feeling a bit down today. I think I caught a cold.

B That's so sad. Are you feeling very sick?

G No, not terrible, just a little under the weather.

B Well, cheer up. I'm sure you'll feel better soon.

Mission 2 교과서 p. 46

1

M In Korea and around the world, some teenagers wonder why we should learn foreign languages. Students spend many hours learning languages at school. Many adults say that learning languages is the key to survival in a competitive world. It'll help you communicate and understand other cultures. However, some teenagers aren't so sure. They say that computer scientists have solved the problem of communication. In this time of online translation, learning a language is a waste of time. They say it's better to study other subjects.

Wrap Up 교과서 p. 47

1

B What's the matter?
G Oh, my grades aren't very good. I failed an English test.
B Don't worry. I'm sure you'll pass the next one.
G Maybe, but what should I do?
B If I were you, I'd make a study group with some friends.
G Thanks for the advice. I feel a bit better now.
B Don't worry about it. I know how you feel. School is not always easy.

2

B Yumi, I have to tell you something.
G OK. What is it?
B I apologize for dropping your phone. I'm really sorry.
G That's OK. Never mind.
B But it's expensive to fix the screen, isn't it?
G I'm not sure yet. I'm going to check online how much a new screen costs.
B Well, I'll help you pay for it.
G OK. I'll let you know what I find out about it.
B Do you need me to lend you my phone?
G No, I've got my laptop right here. It's fine.
